

Go Wild Game

pbskids.org

Go Wild is a version of the classic children's card game known as Go Fish. It can be played by two or more kids. The goal of the game is to make the most "books" or sets of four identical cards.

MAKE THE GAME:

Print and cut out the playing cards. To make the cards sturdier and last longer, glue the paper to a cereal box before cutting. You could also laminate the cards.

HOW TO PLAY:

- The dealer shuffles the cards and gives each player five cards to start the game. The remaining cards are placed face down in a pile in the center of the game table or space.
- Once all the cards are dealt, the players can look at their cards. If a player has four of the same cards in the dealt hand, then those cards can immediately be placed on the table face up in front of the player.
- The player to the left of the dealer starts the game by deciding which of his cards he would like to collect to build a set. The player then asks an opponent — it can be anyone playing — if they have that card, for example: "Do you have cheetahs?" That opponent must then give the player all of his cheetah cards. If the opponent does not have cheetah cards, she says, "Go Wild." The player then draws a card from the center pile.
- If the player gets the card he requested from an opponent or draws that card from the pile (he must show everyone that he drew that card), then he gets to go again. If not, the person to the left of the player begins her turn. Play continues until all 13 sets of animal cards are collected as sets. The player with the most sets wins the game.
- For added fun, players can make the animal noise for the animal on the card whenever a book is completed.
